Glendale

During the height of the COVID-19 pandemic, when in-person visits were prohibited, 17-year-old Isabella Romero reached out to Beecan Health to offer to visit with residents virtually. She used Studio B, an online program which allowed her to visit, one-on-one with residents and play and sing songs personalized to their music tastes. Isabella spent 1-2 hour per week entertaining residents during the pandemic and says she was grateful to bring a little bit of joy and excitement to residents.
