Helping Hand

Welcome

Welcome to the 17th issue of the Helping Hand! You are receiving this newsletter because you are either a participant in CAHF's Volunteer Engagement Project or you have expressed interest in it. Every month, we share ideas and best practices, updates from the project, and examples of volunteer programs making a difference across California.

We have added a new section in response to the COVID-19 pandemic: Resources for Activity Directors. If you have any additional questions about COVID-19 in skilled nursing facilities, please refer to the CAHF coronavirus webpage.

Assess Your Program Before Volunteers Return

Tina Hand
Volunteer Engagement Project Manager

Visitors may soon be returning to your facility. AFL 20-77, released just last week from CDPH, notified SNFs of available funds for the purchase of materials to aid with in-person visitation. You could receive up to $3,000 to go towards tents, clear partitions, and installation costs to keep residents and loved ones safe when in-person visitations resume. Volunteers will come back too.

A statement put out in August from the U.S. Department of Veteran Affairs announced plans to “gradually and safely reintroduce volunteers” to V.A. health care facilities. In describing their reasoning, authorities spoke of the fundamental services volunteers provide to vulnerable populations living in these facilities. Of course, ample precautions will be taken to ensure the safety of residents and staff. And some volunteer activities may not be permitted at all under these new guidelines, like singing or holding hands.

For some facilities, in-person visitation may already be happening. For others this next step back to “normal” is still on the horizon. Allowances for in-person visitors at your facility will depend on facility size, current outbreak status, and rates of infection in the community. Your administrator will tell you if in-person visitation is a possibility for your volunteer program.

If you expect volunteers back in person anytime soon, take this opportunity to update your volunteer program policies and training requirements to reflect changes made during the pandemic.

What will you teach volunteers about infection prevention in respect to COVID-19? Are volunteers expected to interact with residents in groups or only one-on-one? These questions, among others, need to be answered for your returning volunteers. Use this time to review your existing documentation, remove outdated protocols, and update necessary information. For help in doing this, refer to the Volunteer Engagement project handbook. We've recently added a handout that may help you transition virtual volunteers back into your building. And check out Dr. Meg Thayer's article below for help on dealing with all this change.

Handbook Highlight

From How to Create a Robust Volunteer Program in Your Skilled Nursing Facility

Have some great volunteer opportunities, either virtually or in person, but aren't sure how to get the word out? Flyers are a great way to advertise your need for volunteers and can be used in a number of ways. Staff can post them in community places they frequent, they can be posted to your facility website, and they can be sent electronically to local schools, churches, rotary, or other organizations in your local area. Too busy to design one from scratch? Please see Appendix N in the Handbook for sample flyers you can customize to fit your facility's needs. Download your copy of the Handbook here.

Coping with Change

We've heard the saying for years, "Change is the only constant in life." This famous saying is attributed to Heraclitus, an ancient Greek philosopher who lived 500 BC. When a simple saying has remained alive and relevant for centuries, it is a good idea to recognize it as truth.

The idea of change as a constant in human life, however, doesn't mean we ever really get used to it or stop fearing it. Even change that is expected and positive can cause stress and anxiety. Year 2020 has brought sudden, significant change to life all over the world, to an extent most of us have not experienced before. This change has led to transitions in our work, relationships, health, mental health, and family life.

Skilled nursing facilities internationally reported ways that cherished residents were adversely affected by COVID-19 early on. As knowledge about the illness has grown, nursing homes have found ways to incorporate change into their infection control protocols, diagnostic testing, and interpersonal interaction that have made residents and staff safer. More change is on the way, however, as we look to decrease the detrimental effects such safety measures have had on the mental health of residents when they cannot interact with other residents, volunteers, and family.

Nursing home staff is tasked then with not only dealing with the changes in their own lives and work, but also with helping their residents cope with change as well. The better you are able to cope with the changes in your own life through practicing self-care, keeping your thoughts positive, and finding your priorities, the better able you are to help those with whom you work to do the same. It is important to remember, also, that residents you work with have several decades of life experience dealing with change – remind them to use that experience as a resource.

Does coping with change sound difficult? It can be – but those who work in nursing homes have never shied away from hard work! “Never doubt that a small group of thoughtful, committed citizens can change the world. Indeed, it is the only thing that ever has.” ~ Margaret Mead Activities...

AARP Games for Seniors: Free to play. Includes classics like Mahjong, solitaire, and word games plus arcade games and quizzes.

Activities and Games for Seniors

Be My Eyes: This is an app for iPhone or Android phones in which volunteers (residents in your facility) can support blind and low-vision people in leading more independent lives by answering requests. As a sighted volunteer you can help just by installing the Be My Eyes app. A blind or a low-vision user may need help with anything from checking expiration dates on food, distinguishing colors, reading instructions or navigating new surroundings. If residents have their own phone or mobile device, this service can help them to feel useful and fulfilled even in isolation.

Californians For All: A statewide program created to match available volunteers with organizations in need. Volunteers can sign up to take phone calls with seniors, deliver meals, or take part in other opportunities in their local area. To post your organization on the website, email info@cv.ca.gov

Care Not COVID: Online campaign to collect videos messages of hope and appreciation to be shared with those living in skilled nursing and senior living facilities. You can share these videos with your residents or use the hashtag #carenotcovid to find similar videos across social media platforms (Facebook, Instagram, Twitter, YouTube).

Crafts for Seniors

Dreamcatchers Foundation: Non-profit organization that seeks to connect youth volunteers with seniors in assisted living, skilled nursing, or hospice care. They just launched the Kindness and Compassion Initiative, to develop virtual pen pal relationships between volunteer and in-care residents. Reach out to the staff on the About page to learn more about how to get this kind of service for your residents.

Easy-to-Grow Indoor Plants for Seniors

Free e-Books for Amazon Kindle: Adult fiction, classic literature, children's books, etc.

Free online art lessons: Including drawing and painting lessons plus free videos and e-books about creating art.

Free online music classes and educational materials: Courses range from "Suitable for All" to "Professional" skill level and the content is varied in subject matter. Residents can participate in a History of the Beatles course or learn about the proper way to listen to music, among many other topics.

Friendship Line: Accredited 24-hour crisis line for people aged 60 years and older as well as adults living with disabilities. Trained volunteers specialize in offering a caring ear and having a friendly conversation with depressed older adults. Toll Free call 800-971-0016

Fun and free online games for seniors

GrandPad: Specialized tablets made specifically for seniors to call people, listen to music, browse the internet and more.

How to enable captions on Zoom: For deaf or hard-of-hearing residents who may be connecting with family or volunteers through the Zoom platform. For captions in other video platforms, see

Libby, for eBooks and Audiobooks: Free app to download or use online; requires a library card from participating library but it grants access to a vast collection of new and classic books to read or listen to.

Live church services

Maria's Place: Search activity suggestions by ability level or type of activity, like "social," "physical," "spiritual," etc.

Mon Ami volunteer management technology: Connect your residents with volunteers who want to chat on the phone or run errands.

Netflix Party: Google Chrome extension that allows two or more people to watch the same Netflix video on different computers. Netflix Party synchronizes video playback and adds group chat so people watching can chat about the show together.

New York Botanical Garden: Offering photos, activities, and videos to engage with their botanical treasures while their doors are shuttered.

Online Alcoholics Anonymous Meetings via phone or Zoom Meeting.

Pet Therapy Tele-visit

Play online music games

SAGE LGBT Elder Hotline: Available 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, in English and Spanish, with translation in 180 languages. This hotline can connect everyone with a phone to an LGBT responder who is friendly, knowledgeable, and ready to listen.

Sixteen Ways to Encourage Negative or Pessimistic Residents to Attend Activities

StoriiTime: A free service that connects isolated residents with children who are learning to read. You can sign up your residents to be a volunteer reader as long as they are over 50 years old.

Top Songs from Every Generation: Listening to music has been shown to reduce rates of depression and anxiety. This list shows you what songs your residents may like depending on their age.
